

Our philosophy

For St. John's International students, the Extra-Curricular Activities Programme plays an integral role in their school journey as a purposeful extension of the learning and academic curriculum. We place great value on the role Extra-Curricular Activities play in supporting the growth and development of well-rounded, responsible and curious individuals.

The emphasis is on activities that inspire and challenge students, which are delivered in a way that demands inquiry, reflection and collaboration. Student-led elements are encouraged to develop existing interests as well as foster the pursuit and mastery of new skills. Creating a fun and holistic learning environment is the underpinning principle and our ECA programme is also a place where, new talents are discovered, passions are honed and leadership skills are developed!

Participation in the programme creates increased opportunities for communication and interaction across cultural borders, the result is a learning environment that instills a unique feeling of belonging, as well as a sense of achievement.

“An impressive 3 in 4 St. John's students participate in our extra-curricular activities.”

The ECA's are integral to our sports development pathway for ELS and PS students. With the inclusion of pre and post-season offerings in our competition sports for MHS athletes, they can practise their chosen sport year-round, complementing and driving our competitive sports programme.

It's not Just Sports!

We aim to support a range of activities, not just sports, with strong links to our hugely popular and successful Visual and Performing Arts Programme and a wide variety of other clubs and other societies on offer. There is something for everyone regardless of age or level or interest.

“On average, students signs up for 2 or more activities, as they want to experience the variety on offer.”

Our staff

Members of staff, external instructors, students and parents form our dedicated and dynamic team of instructors. They are highly qualified and successful in their own right. They include ex-international, national and club level athletes who also work for local clubs, teams and societies, forging close links within our local community.
